How are dividends paid?

Dividends payable on ordinary shares are paid by way of bank transfer to the account held at the shareholder's securities account provider or to the payment account specified by the shareholder to the securities account provider or — in case of domestic legal persons — to the payment account specified by the securities account provider. The Company shall not be held liable for any delay or damage resulting from inaccurate data or failure to disclose the Financial Account Identifier.

The dividend payable is determined on the basis of information provided by shareholders for the purposes of calculating such dividend. The dividend payable and the tax deductible per each shareholder are determined by KELER Ltd. on the basis of the applicable tax laws and the data submitted by the account providers. Where incomplete data is submitted, the dividend will be paid only after the missing data are provided.

When making payments to domestic and foreign natural persons, a personal income tax of 15% will be deducted pursuant to Sections 8(1) and 66 of Act CXVII of 1995 on personal income tax (“the PIT Act”). Such payment is not subject to social contribution tax (“SZOCHO”).

Payments to (both domestic and foreign) legal persons is made without any tax deduction.

The Company and/or KELER Ltd. on its behalf, do not assume responsibility for any delay resulting from incomplete or late reporting by securities account providers.

Since 2010, dividends on shares held on a Permanent Investment Account (“Tartós Befektetési Számla”) by domestic and foreign resident natural persons, are paid without tax deduction (Section 67/B(6)(c) and Annex 7 of the PIT Act). Concurrently with reporting the claim for dividends, securities account providers must inform PannErgy Plc's agent responsible for the payment of dividends, i.e. KELER Ltd. whether the shares are registered on a Permanent Investment Account. If a securities account provider fails to do so, dividends will be paid after the deduction of a 15% personal income tax.

If a shareholder chooses to receive the dividend with a preferential tax deduction rate under a double taxation convention, the securities account provider must submit the documents described in Annex 7 of the PIT Act to the Issuer Services Department of KELER Ltd. (H-1074 Budapest, Rákóczi út 70–72.) by 30 June 2022 the latest. Securities account providers should note that certificates of residence for the tax year issued in foreign languages are only accepted in the form of professional or certified translation. If a double taxation convention requires a statement from the beneficial owner as well, such instrument is also accepted only in the form of professional or certified translation. The statement on beneficial ownership may be made in Hungarian as well. If KELER Ltd. does not receive either a certificate of residence or the subsequent supplementation thereof by 30 June 2022, the dividend will be paid after the deduction of a 15% personal income tax in case of foreign natural persons. Shareholders may claim repayment of the difference between the 15% and the reduced tax rate pursuant to point 4 of Annex 7 of the PIT Act, on the basis of a certificate issued by KELER Ltd. on behalf of PannErgy Plc.

Data reporting obligations for securities account providers

Securities account providers shall disclose the shareholders' data to KELER Ltd. upon shareholder verification according to the procedure announced by KELER Ltd. If a securities account provider fails to identify or identifies its shareholder clients incorrectly at the time of shareholder verification, it may rectify or correct such failure during the period of dividend payment. Dividends payable on the basis of subsequently reported information will be disbursed during the month following the one when the deficiencies were remedied. PannErgy Plc. and KELER Ltd. acting on its behalf are not liable for any delay resulting from the submission of incomplete or incorrect data by securities account providers or from the fact that processing such data is lengthy.

Issue of a tax certificate

KELER Ltd. will issue a certificate on behalf and in the name of PannErgy Plc. on the dividends paid on shares and the taxes deducted and will deliver it to the shareholders by 15 January 2023 at the latest.
